

The CLOVERBELT CONQUERS CANCER

One School At A Time...

Thank you!

There are no other words that get to the point as quickly as the two listed above... so simple, yet so heartfelt... so succinct, yet so appropriate.

This past year, we set out to get every school in the Eastern Cloverbelt Conference to host a fundraiser at a home basketball game to raise awareness and money for pediatric cancer. We knew that never before had an entire conference come together for one cause. We knew that we'd have our work cut out for us as we scheduled events, got sponsors, convinced schools to participate and drew enough interest from the communities to make this event successful.

We did it!

It seems like such an understatement, but we did it. With the help of you, and dozens of other people like you around the conference, we did it. We hosted nine separate fundraisers. We rescheduled because of weather. We adjusted to all the little things that go wrong during a fundraiser. We traveled all over the conference with our Warrior Walls and silent auction items. We sold raffle tickets and helped with halftime contests. We got student sections involved with Snapchat filters and "yellow-outs". We raised awareness for pediatric cancer. And we raised $25,000! Yes, you read that right. Together, we raised $25,000 for pediatric cancer. Half of the money has been given to the Maki family. The other half has been given to the Marshfield Clinic Pediatric Oncology Angel Fund to help those that have yet to embark on their cancer journey in hopes that we can brighten their days and ease their burdens.

Thank you!

That brings me back to the beginning... and thank you. We could not have accomplished this amazing feat without you. Whether you were a participating school, a volunteer, a committee member, a donor or just someone that attended one of the events and spent money... thank you!

From the bottom of my heart, THANK YOU for participating in this epic fundraiser. Together, we made a difference!

Sincerely,
